Dear Senators,

The undersigned food and agriculture organizations urge your rejection of the amendment offered by Senators Rob Portman (R-OH) and Debbie Stabenow (D-MI) that would require enforceable currency provisions in trade agreements (SA1299). This amendment, if adopted, would most likely kill the TPP negotiations.

The economic well-being of American agriculture depends on maintaining strong export markets and creating new market access opportunities. Export markets are in large part the result of trade agreements negotiated over the past two decades. Since 1989, when the U.S. began using bilateral and regional trade agreements to open foreign markets, U.S. agricultural exports have nearly quadrupled in value and reached a record $150.5 billion in 2014.

The U.S. is now in the home stretch of closing the Trans-Pacific Partnership. The TPP has the potential to be the most economically significant regional Free Trade Agreement (FTA) ever negotiated. Unfortunately, the huge potential export and job gains through the TPP will not be realized if this amendment is adopted.

We join with Treasury Secretary Jack Lew and 10 former Treasury heads and the business community in urging you to reject Senate Amendment 1299.

Sincerely,
